* BRAVEST OF THE BRAVE *

My eyes watered when I touched your Letter .....

Still your promises paused me for Better,

I breathed out, tugging finger on your Photo .....

But I remind serving country is your Moto,

I always wait for the tears to Stop .....

But they defy me
A lot,

Everyday I woke up and gathered all my Strength .....

And try to pay back your Absence,

A promise to my Soldier,
To be brave as you .....

And serve my life for the country
As you do .....

- Aachal Khankure

Insight of the Pandemic

The pandemic has forced the world to lock down
A resolution to prevent our lives from turning upside down,
The doctors and nurses are grappling
against this infection
With cops by their side preventing violation.
Never have we thought of being the bird
in a cage
But life was more important than expressing this rage,
Safety became the first priority
Thus sanitization became the biggest necessity.
Humans are restricted from moving around but it healed the nature from all the wound,
Wild life is free, greenery is grown
With a beautiful smile the mother Earth has retired her crown.
This difficult time will grab human minds
in negativity
But try your best to spill the beautiful
colours of positivity,
Work from home, explore your talents, be creative, work out, spend time with family, chat with your friend
Do whatever makes you feel good
Time will change, things will heal
Just never let the winds of hope come to an end.
Thank You

• A Wave of Thoughts •

A wave of thoughts hit every time I ponder,
And minutes & hours, with that I squander,
Control, contain, comprehend, or constrain,
Nothing can I do; my efforts go in vain.
If only I could pause & switch off for today
Step out of my body & watch my life replay
For every good moment, I've had too bad one
Is this a curse? Or should I rethink my concerns?
Maybe I inebriate a lot? Or I've overthought?
The feeling so obnoxious makes a dark blot.
But like every dark tunnel has an illuminated end,
No day can be constant, the night must impend,
And amidst all the darkness, I see the light shine,
Completing the circle of life, so pensive yet divine.
There's always a jovial spot on the darker side
And every radiant one will have some melancholy inside.

Thank you!

True Change

A revolution done, another journey complete,
More habits procured, less obsolete.
The phases of the moon though, haven't changed,
The ones he cast his shine upon might have gone deranged.

A life in captivity needed no resolution,
Just a strong heart and a patient constitution.
It's another same repeating cycle,
Then why the fireworks? Asked the intellectual.
New Year is just a cause for celebration,

True change follows love, humility and indiscrimination.

MY SCHOOL

In halls of learning, we gather round, To gain knowledge, both lost and found, With books in hand, and minds aglow, We seek to grow, to learn and know.

From early morn, until the bell doth ring, We delve into history, math and things,
Science and art, music and more, Our thirst for knowledge, a mighty roar.

From classrooms small, to lecture halls grand, We study hard, and try to understand,
The lessons taught, by teachers kind, Who guide us gently, with wisdom and mind.

The friendships forged, in these hallowed halls, Will last forever, beyond these walls,
For we are bound, by common goals, To strive for greatness, and reach new roles.

And so we leave, with heads held high, Our hearts ablaze, with knowledge nigh, For in these walls, we've found our way, To a brighter future, and a brand new day.

YOU KNOW, TABLES TURN

(A lifechanging day in the life of Dr. Tangchandani's and his family.)

Scene 1

It's about 10:45 pm at Dr. Tangchandani's half furnished dispensary, just off a busy street corner in Jaripatka. Dr. Tangchandani is a podiatrist. He is fed up with a day's long work. Enter Dr. Tangchandani.

DR. TANGCHANDANI: (huffing) Phew.... Mr. Joshi was really heavy I'm tired trying to help him get into his BMW (to his receptionist who is his daughter too) How much did he leave for you? A tenner? SAMANTHA: Not a penny. I told you he is tight fisted. He just said 'Keep the file, you need it more than I do.' Weirdly enough, he took out the papers and told his driver to put them in his tiffin bag...

DR. TANGCHANDANI: Huh? What?

SAMANTHA: I hated him from the time he walked in. or should I say crawled in. Ha... Ha... (laughing)

(Meanwhile the Doctor begins packing up. Takes the file the girl was holding puts it in his bag turns off the lights)

SAMANTHA: Papa what! Are you blind? I am still packing up... Patience is a virtue. Plus, I'm not a robot.

(The father puts on the lights immediately. Then begins to see his daughter and reminisce about how he is a henpecked husband and how he allows his daughter to talk to him in the manner his wife does.) DR. TANGCHANDANI: (to himself) No respect whatsoever.

(Then walks out to the street) I'm blind. (Begins to chuckle)

(Samantha turns off the lights closed the dispensary, puts the keys in her bag glances at her father, then starts calling out loudly)

SAMANTHA: Now you're lost your mind too! What! Papa! Hello! Now, are you going to drive home or you want me to do that as well?

(Dr. Tangchandani and Samantha leave for home on the vehicle. Get halted by the cops and somehow manage to get out unscathed)

Scene 2

At DR. Tangchandani's residence, near Koradi thermal power plant. Doctor's wife and her parents are in a heated argument. The son walks in unannounced then yells.

JONATHAN: Hey stop you guys for a moment. Silence....

DEBRA: What is this the way to address your grandmother and grandfather? And even for that matter, your mother? She carried you for 9 months! Gosh this generation I tell you... JANE: What is it son?

JONATHAN: Mummy it's 11:00 pm...

DEBRA: (Barging in.) And you are hungry? Completely gone on your father, whole time eat, eat and eat. Why didn't you turn out like your Christian mother...? At least Samantha is better than you... You are a complete Sindhi...

2

DAVID: Oh, my goodness! Here you go again. Let him speak. (to Jonathan) Say, what is so urgently need to say. You wouldn't let us finish our conversation.

JONATHAN: What conversation! More of a fight... Gosh!... I was saying it's 11 and the strict night curfew starts at 11 from today. Dad and Sammy are out. I hope nothing goes wrong and they come home safely.

(Just then enter doctor with a ruffled-up collar and SAMANTHA who is upset and on the verge of crying.) JONATHAN: Gosh dad what happened? Your shirt... Why is Samantha's mood like this? I mean upset...

JANE: Here you are my so hardly working husband, you are good for nothing. Whole time just being at your stupid dispensary. Doing what? Seeing and touching strangers' feet. Well, it's your festival not mine. Its Diwali and you are not home? I have been slogging in the kitchen and cleaning and decorating the house all by myself. Called my parents over and this is how you enter the house?

DR. TANGCHANDANI: The cops ruffled me up a bit. That terrified our Sammy she began to weep and the cops questioned us about being out so late. Then warned us to go home soon. And today at the dispensary I noticed our Sammy flirting with Tanve...

DEBRA: Will you leave that for later? See to you father-in-law's legs. They are swollen from the time we arrived today.

DAVID: (Picking up his dirty feet in great agony and pain) See I can't even lift them up. DR. TANGCHANDANI: (Disgruntling) Show me.

(Realizing it was caused by the long travel, puts some water to boil adds Himalayan pink salt. Brings it in a basin, places his father-in-law's feet in it.)

DAVID: That's all?

DR. TANGCHANDANI: Yes, sasurji. That will pretty much cure it, and in about an hour or so, you'll be perfectly fine.

Scene 3

The doctor has just freshened up. Does his puja, recites his prayers and lights the first Diya. Turns around to find his wife standing in utter surprise and shock with tears rolling down her eyes. She is holding two files which were taken out of the doctor's bag.

DR. TANGCHANDANI: (Moving closer to his wife, puts his arm around her shoulder) What is it my love? Is everything alright?

JANE: Jaswan, I'm sorry for treating you in such a bad and ungrateful manner. I'm a horrible wife.... (Begins to sob even more) Here see. You bought home these files. It's a treasure. We have found a jackpot.

DEBRA: What? Now you'll pile coals on my head for what I said about your husband earlier just because now he found a jackpot. What about all these years you have borne up with him? (Silence for a moment)

DR. TANGCHANDANI: Wait, what is going on? (He is all confused about what is happening) JANE: See, my love, my sweetheart and I don't know what to say more. I'm so surprised and honoured to have you as my husband. (Hugs him.)

JONATHAN: (Snatching the files from his mother's hands. Goes through them. And half reading them begins to exclaims) We got 5.5 lakhs from Mr. Joshi with a thank you note from his wife. And not only that. (almost screeching) We got a three bedroom flat in Mankapur, ready to poses fully furnished and this comes from Mr. Kamran. And that is in Smiti Enclave.

SAMANTHA: (Walks in quietly. She is now calm. She remembers Mr. Kamran, then speaks in a very sheepish tone) Papa is it he the one with the two broken ankles? My... My... isn't way too generous.

DR. TANGCHANDANI: Yes Sammy. (Pauses then remembers what he wanted to tell her) By the way Miss. Tanveera is into you. Do you like her? Or it's just at the stage where you are just waiting for my permission to move in together at our place?

SAMANTHA: (fully pink from blushing) Well papa, if you don't min...

DAVID: (Elated and relived from the pain) My feet are fine. You are an amazing doctor and a great dad. But don't let my granddaughter stay with a gir...

JANE: What will people say? Is that what you are going to say? Jaswan and I don't care. We love our daughter and want the best for her. What if she has fallen in love with Tanveera? (To Samantha) Sammy, Tanveera is welcome to our family and our home, too.

JONATHAN: Wow! Now mum and dad, we have a lot of preparations to do. I'm leaving next month for my camp, Sammy is going to bring Tanveera and we are got to move out of this rented shabby house and go to Smiti Enclave.

SAMANTHA: I'm so excited. Thank you, papa. And, I'm sorry for treating you the way I have been. Thank you mummy. I love you both. (The three hug one another)

DAVID and DEBRA: (Together) We are sorry too.

DAVID: You can make up your dispensary to the one which you dreamed about for so long. Happy to know and be a part of your new live. (Congratulatory handshakes) JONATHAN: Let's celebrate! This is the best Diwali we have ever had. Dad, you are awesome. I love you. And I love our family. You guys are the best.

SAMANTHA: I have the best family I could ask for. Happy Diwali everyone. (Jane comes in with sprite poured out and arranges the table with the sweets she made. Samantha takes the tray of cold-drink tray around. All have glasses in their hands.)

DR. TANGCHANDANI: Here's to new beginnings!

ALL: (Together) To new beginnings...

...THE END

MOTHER

A mother's love is like no other, Unconditional, pure and true.

She's always there to guide and comfort,

No matter what you're going through.

Her touch can heal a broken heart,

Her words can lift you up and inspire.

Her presence brings a sense of calm, Like a warm and loving fire.

A mother's love is a precious gift,

A bond that nothing can sever.

Cherish her always,

for she is A shining light that lasts forever.

A mother's love is like no other,

Unconditional, pure and true.

She's always there to guide and comfort,

No matter what you're going through.

Her touch can heal a broken heart,

Her words can lift you up and inspire.

Her presence brings a sense of calm,

Like a warm and loving fire.

A mother's love is a precious gift,

A bond that nothing can sever.

Cherish her always,

for she is A shining light that lasts forever.
